

Be Proud of Who You Are Rainbow Flag Colouring Sheet and Discussion Prompt Cards Information

School Diversity Week 2020 runs between 22nd and 26th June to celebrate LGBT+ equality in education. Organised by Just Like Us, the LGBT+ charity for young people, it highlights the fact that we all belong to different families and will grow up to form different types of relationships. That's what makes every one of us unique and special - we should all be proud of who we are while also showing respect and acceptance towards others.

The rainbow flag was first used at a Gay Freedom Day Parade in America in 1978. Today it is seen at Pride Festivals and Parades representing LGBT+ people in countries all over the world.

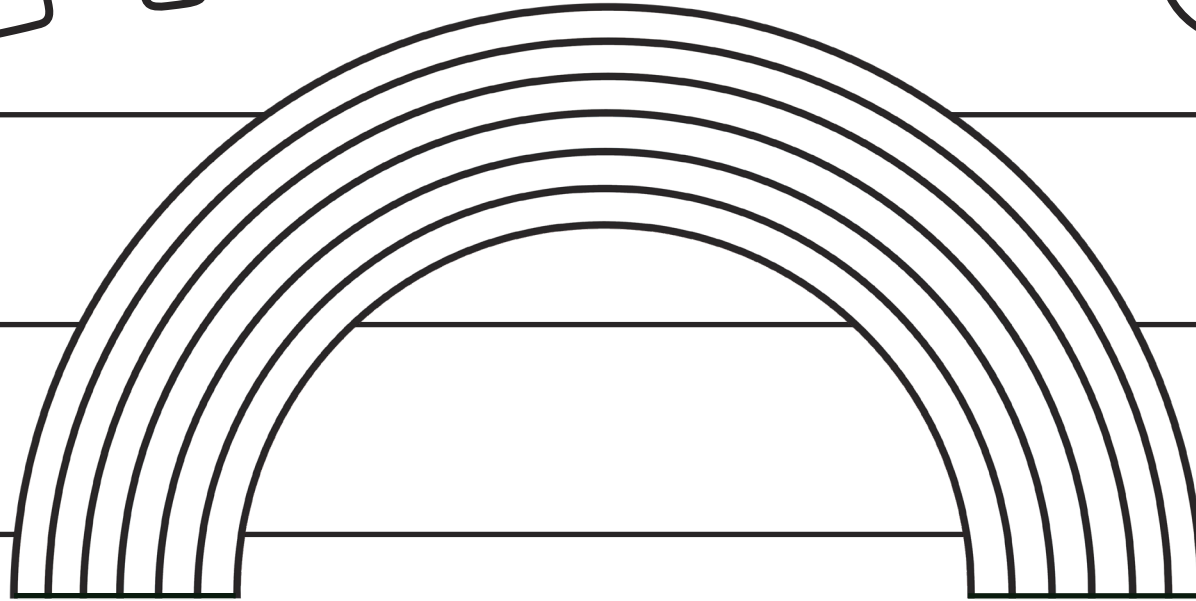

Children can celebrate our differences by colouring in the Rainbow Flag Colouring Sheet.

Read the prompt cards together and encourage your children to think about the questions posed as a starting point for opening up discussions about LGBT+ equality.
